

NEW ASSOCIATION ANNOUNCEMENT

High-impact Elsevier journal and leading Chinese institute join forces

Elsevier is proud to announce the formation of a new association to begin in 2023 between the 107-year-old journal Translational Research (Impact Factor: 10.171) and Renji Hospital, Shanghai Jiao Tong University Medical School.

Translational Research publishes original investigations in the broad fields of laboratory, clinical, and public health research. It keeps readers up-to-date on significant biomedical research from all subspecialties of medicine.

Starting in 2023, there will be 2 Co-Editors-in-Chief leading an international and diverse team of editors:

Jeffrey Laurence, MD

Professor of Medicine, Weill Cornell Medical College, Attending Physician at New York Presbyterian Hospital, and Director of the Laboratory for AIDS Virus Research.

Qiang Xia, MD

President of Renji Hospital, Shanghai Jiao Tong University School of Medicine, Director of Liver Surgery (Transplantation) Department.

Renji Hospital, affiliated with Shanghai Jiao Tong University Medical School, was founded in 1844 and was the first hospital to practice Western Medicine in Shanghai. The hospital is a 'Grade 3, Class A' institute with 3000 beds, 6000 medical staff, and 56 medical departments spread over five campuses.
